

QUICK TIPS ON HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WASTE

TAKEOUT

If you are ordering takeout, say no to single-use cutlery and straws. You can even reuse the plastic container.

BAKING TIME!

Usually, individual snack wrappers go to landfill. Bake your own snack instead of buying them in packaging. Try out some new recipes. Do you like granola bars? How about cheese crackers?

STOP CLINGING TO CLING WRAP

Cling wrap not only helps your food last longer, but it also lasts for years in the landfill. Try making your own beeswax food wrap instead by using old rags or clothing. Check out here for more ideas.

MAKE YOUR OWN CLEANING PRODUCT

Making your own all-purpose cleaner is an easy way to reduce plastic waste and to avoid harsh chemicals in your household. Learn how to make affordable and eco-friendly cleaning products here.

EMBROIDER YOUR OLD T-SHIRTS

Instead of throwing out old shirts, you can embroider to make them more exciting. Make your own embroidery hoop from a yogurt container. Learn how to make it here with one of our team members.

REUSABLE MENSTRUAL PADS AND CUPS

Not only do disposable pads go to landfills, but the plastic applicators used for tampons can litter our waterways. Instead, try a reusable menstrual cup or reusable pads.

LESS PACKAGING

When possible, buy things in bulk instead of individually-wrapped products. If you are ordering online, look for options that use as little plastic packaging as possible.
